

Profiles to Recognize Type

Sometimes the profiles or silhouettes of goats can provide a good start in sorting out the types of animals that one sees in a line-up. How would you place these three animals based on their profile? What are the characteristics that place each doe above the next?